Hi

Just a quick note to let you know that the Associate Diploma in Nuclear Medicine Technology from Sydney TAFE appears to be left off the list of approved courses. You have the TAFE radiography and therapy courses listed and the earlier certificate qualification but not the associated diploma that so many current techs have as their basis of accreditation. Some have subsequent masters for example but not 'accredited' masters courses, their accreditation is still based on the A/Dip NMT at TAFE.

cheers
